How to use this activity pack

WHO: We are Sweet Cherry Publishing, a Leicester based independent children's book publisher.

Our publications are created to capture the attention of every creative and curious child that crosses our path. We believe in stories that will entrance and captivate readers, so whatever story you are looking for, we're confident there'll be something in our catalogue that sparks your imagination.

WHAT: What is this activity book for? We are glad you asked!

Danny Dingle is all about INVENTIONS! We want your pupils to engage with the book's laugh-out-loud story and hilarious illustrations by joining the "Finders" family! This activity pack will give your pupils the opportunity to get creative and become tip top inventors!

WHERE: We would love to see what your class comes up with; why don't you send us a tweet or an email with pictures of your wacky inventions and your class completing the activities?

Our Twitter handle: @SweetCherryPub
Email us: fiona@sweetcherrypublishing.com

How do I prepare?

If you are reading this, that means you have already received your teacher's pack- inside, you will find all the activities and information you will need for the day; the rest is down to you!

You can use all or some of the activities included in this pack and plan your lessons around them!

Do my class need to read the book beforehand?

It might be a great idea for your class to read the book in their spare time, but this is also up to you; you know your readers and what works best for them. We have provided extract guides in this pack to help with activity preparation.
